CORAM; A.M.KHANWILKAR J.

DATED 22.2.2006

P.C.

Mentioned, not on board.

. This appeal is expected to be listed on 4.4.2006 in terms of order dated 9.1.2006. The learned counsel for the respondent no.3 moved the matter for preponing the date of hearing.

. During the course of arguments, however, he submits that the respondents would suffer the ad-interim order as passed by this court - if this court were to direct final disposal of the notice of motion preferably by the end of March 2006. He further submits that all necessary cooperation will be extended to the trial court for early disposal of the notice of motion. The learned counsel for appellants has no objection for adopting such a course. The parties appearing before this court including the learned counsel for the Corporation, state that the pleadings will be completed within two weeks from today, two weeks for reply to the respondents and two weeks thereafter for rejoinder. If these directions are complied with as per the assurances given by the advocate, the trial court may proceed to finally dispose of the notice of motion no.4788 of 2005, preferably on or before 17.4.2006. All questions are left open to be decided on its own merits in accordance with law. Till the disposal of the notice of motion, the interim order passed by this court shall operate between the parties, unless to be modified or altered by the trial court for the reasons as may be warranted in that behalf. Appeal as well as the civil application stand disposed of in the above terms.
